For Emmaus, the village of Esteville in France is symbolic. Since Abbé Pierre died in 2007, thousands of people have come to visit the house he lived in and the cemetery he is buried in beside Lucie Coutaz and some of the first house he lived in and the cemetery he is buried in. Thousands of people have come to visit the house he lived in and the cemetery he is buried in. Thousands of people have come to visit the house he lived in and the cemetery he is buried in. Thousands of people have come to visit the house he lived in and the cemetery he is buried in. Thousands of people have come to visit the house he lived in and the cemetery he is buried in.